What information do we collect about you?

This website collects information about you when you complete the online contact forms. This information is collected so that Matthew Lowe can contact you back following your enquiry. The website usage information is collected using Cookies.

What is a Cookie?

Cookies are text files placed on your computer to collect standard internet log information and visitor behaviour information. This is then used to track a visitor's use of our website and to compile statistic reports on the website's activity and performance in Google Analytics. Google Analytics uses cookies to store information about:

The pages you visit on website.

The length of time you spend on each website page.

How you found us.

What you click on while visiting our site.

We do not collect or store any personal information using cookies.

The information is not used to identify any individual.

For more information about Cookies you can visit www.aboutcookies.org or www.allaboutcookies.org.

You can set your browser not to accept cookies and the above websites will tell you how to do this. However, if you choose to do this some of our website features may not function as well.

How we will use the information about you?

Where personal data is submitted through our forms this data is only used for the purpose stated on the form and will not be given or sold to any third parties without your consent.

Changes to our Privacy Policy

The Privacy Policy on this website is kept under regular review and all updates will be on this webpage. This privacy policy was last updated 15th December 2023.
